

Caring for Friends and Pets with Gentle Hands

Caring means being kind and gentle to friends and pets.

When I care, I use my gentle hands to show love.

My friend might like a soft pat on the back when they're happy.

My pet enjoys a gentle stroke on its fur when it feels calm.

Sharing toys with my friend makes playtime even more fun.

Do you want the play with me?

If my friend is sad, I can ask, "Do you want to play with me?"

My pet needs food and water every day to stay healthy and happy.

I can help by filling my pet's bowl with fresh food and water.

When playing with friends, I can say,
"Your turn!" to show care.

If my pet is resting, I let it have quiet time to feel safe.

Sometimes, my friend might need a hug, and that shows I care.

Pets like gentle voices. I can talk softly to my pet.

When I see my friend smile, it makes me feel happy inside.

Caring for my pet makes it feel loved and secure.

When I use gentle hands, I am being a good friend and pet owner.

Caring for others makes me feel proud and kind.
